Result of the Exhibition

JAPANTEX 2009, The 28th Interior Trend Show, was held from November 11 to 13, 2009. JAPANTEX had been held for a period of four days until 2008. Highlighting the importance of its main role as a "business to business" event, the exhibition period for the 2009 show was shortened to three days beginning from Wednesday. Just as the previous year, JAPANTEX 2009 (organized by Nippon Interior Fabrics Association) was held in conjunction with Interior Festival 2009 (organized by Japan Interior Industry Association) and IPEC 2009 (organized by Japan Federation of Interior Planner's Association) in order to form Japan's largest comprehensive exhibition about interior design and decoration. The show also tied up with Japan Home and Building Show 2009 (organized by Japan Management Association) held at East Hall of the same venue. Based on their preliminary arrangements, the two shows were successful in producing a synergistic effect on attracting visitor with the exchange booths and the simplified registration systems.

Despite the fact that the world economy was still in the midst of the global recession, a variety of special events and programs were presented during JAPANTEX 2009 by Nippon Interior Fabrics Association (NIF) and the JAPANTEX Executive Committee since it was the show commemorating the 30th anniversary of NIF. These events and programs attracted considerable attention.
